ABOUT THE HOST

The Association of Radiation Oncologists of Karnataka (ARO-Karnataka) is a regional chapter of the national AROI, dedicated to advancing the practice of radiation oncology in the state of Karnataka. The association serves as a platform for radiation oncologists, researchers, and healthcare professionals to collaborate, share knowledge, and promote best practices in the treatment of cancer.

Jawaharlal Nehru Medical College (JNMC), Belagavi is a premier medical institution in Karnataka, established in 1963 and affiliated with KLE Academy of Higher Education and Research. JNMC is regarded as one of the leading medical colleges in North Karnataka, combining academic excellence with advanced patient care facilities. Recognized for postgraduate training and clinical research with national and international accreditation. Department of Radiation Oncology functions at the KLE Sampatkumar S Shivanagi Cancer Hospital, which is a 300 bedded Comprehensive Cancer Care Centre, equipped with state of the art radiotherapy facilities and is being recognized as one of its kind in the north Karnataka region.

Belagavi is a major city in northwestern Karnataka. Known as the “Second Capital of Karnataka,” it hosts the state’s winter legislative session at the Suvarna Vidhana Soudha. It is the Gateway between Karnataka, Maharashtra, and Goa. Considered as educational and medical hub, it is also known for its rich cultural and culinary heritage. The pleasant weather adds to the beauty of the city. Belagavi fort, Jain temple, Gokak falls are some of the major tourist attractions.

GREETINGS FROM AROKSCON 2026!!

Dear Partner/Sponsor,

AROKSCON 2026 is the flagship annual academic meeting of the Association of Radiation Oncologists of Karnataka. The conference will bring together radiation oncologists, medical physicists, residents, and oncology professionals from across Karnataka and neighboring states.

The scientific focus will be on real-world radiotherapy practice, technology-driven advances, and contemporary oncology therapeutics, offering a strong platform for academic–industry engagement.

Expected participation: 200-300 delegates

We cordially invite your esteemed organization to join us as a sponsor and valued partner in this important initiative. Your support will play a vital role in advancing oncology education and supporting the professional development of young oncologists.

Warm Regards,
Organizing committee,
AROKSCON 2026
